

THE JACOBITE

FAMOUS STEAM TRAIN

2026 SEASON

Fort William To Mallaig

Experience the breathtaking beauty of the Scottish Western Highlands aboard the World-famous Jacobite Steam Train and its vintage carriages.

"The Greatest Railway Journey In The World"

The Journey

Fort William to Mallaig

Described as the greatest railway journey in the world, this 84 mile round trip takes you past a list of impressive extremes. Starting at the highest mountain in Britain, Ben Nevis, it visits Britain's most westerly mainland railway station, Arisaig; passes close by the deepest freshwater loch in Britain, Loch Morar and the shortest river in Britain, River Morar, finally arriving next to the deepest seawater loch in Europe, Loch Nevis!

The Train stops en route to Mallaig at the village of Glenfinnan. Beyond Glenfinnan are the beautiful villages of Lochailort, Arisaig, Morar and Mallaig. You may alight at Arisaig by request to the guard. From here, on a clear summer's day, you can see the "Small Isles" of Rum, Eigg, Muck, Canna and the southern tip of Skye. The train continues on from here passing Morar and the silvery beaches used in the films "Highlander" and "Local Hero".

Come and join us and find out why!

The Road To The Isles

Following Harry Potter....

West Coast Railways, operators of 'The Jacobite,' provided the steam engine and carriages for the 'Hogwarts Express' as seen in 'Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone' and others in this wonderful series of films.

Some of the carriages of 'The Jacobite' are similar to those used in the 'Harry Potter' films. So, come and travel to Mallaig along the line used in the film - it's a great day out for all the family.

Fort William (An Gearasdan)

Fort William, the largest town in the Highlands and situated at the south end of the Great Glen, lies in the shadow of Ben Nevis, Britain's highest mountain. This area is a fine location to use as a base to discover the Highlands.

Glenfinnan (Gleann Fhionghain)

We cross the 21-arched Glenfinnan Viaduct (a location made famous in the 'Harry Potter' films) which overlooks Loch Shiel and the Jacobite monument. The train may pause here, time permitting, to allow you to take in the magnificent view. Once stopped in Glenfinnan Station, there will be time to stretch your legs and, if you wish, visit the West Highland Railway Museum located in the restored station building. 'The Jacobite' may also stop at Arisaig by request to the guard.

Mallaig (Malaig)

Arriving in Mallaig we have over an hour and a half to take in the atmosphere of this busy fishing port and ferry terminal. There are shops, bars, restaurants and plenty of fish and chips to be enjoyed during the lunchtime stopover.

Whilst every effort will be made to operate this service as advertised, West Coast Railways reserve the right to cancel or alter this service without notice in accordance with their terms and conditions. West Coast Railways also reserves the right to use diesel traction in the event of high fire risk or steam locomotive failure. Once a booking is made, no refund is normally given except where the service is cancelled by West Coast Railways. Only West Coast Railways' tickets are valid on this service. Please note: The return ticket price assumes outward and return journeys will be made on the same day and on the same train.

The Fort William–Mallaig railway was one of the last major railway-building projects in the British Isles. Completed in 1901, it is widely regarded as one of the world's most scenic rail journeys and all the better to make that journey by steam train during the summer months. The railway took 4 years to build, and was one of the first major constructions in the world to use mass concrete. In fact, the bridge across the Borrodale Burn was once the largest concrete bridge in the world. Concrete was also used to build the 21 arches of Glenfinnan viaduct, 11 tunnels and many other bridges across the numerous burns and rivers.
